Solid Brass Horse

Vintage Brass Figurine — Approx. 1.5 lbs

HISTORY

Solid brass animal figurines were a popular decorative accent throughout the mid-20th century, prized for their weight, detailed casting, and the warm patina brass develops with age and handling. Horse figures were an especially common subject, produced by numerous foundries and decor importers to satisfy the era's appetite for tasteful, substantial tabletop and shelf decor. This piece's notable heft — roughly a pound and a half of solid brass — reflects genuine quality casting rather than a hollow or lightweight reproduction.

COLLECTOR NOTES

Solid brass figurines are valued largely by weight, casting detail, and condition of the patina — heavier, well-detailed examples like this one sit toward the middle-to-upper end of the range for decorative brass animal figures. This piece pairs naturally with the collection's other brass animal figurines already documented.

CURRENT MARKET VALUE
